Risk

OpenChat aims to build a blockchain-based instant messaging protocol and ChatCoin is its token. However, its team information is not publicly released and its token distribution is currently highly centralized. In addition, the update frequency of commits and releases on GitHub is currently low and the development process is still unknown.

OpenChat Foundation

- OpenChat Foundation consists of the Investor Community Conference, the Autonomous Council and Executive Committee

Project

Applications of the Protocol

- Instant messaging platform with an add-on light wallet application based on the blockchain cross-link
- Social networking platform using decentralized technology to build a social-networking ecosystem
- Exchanges using the protocol and token as a voting mechanism

Instant Messaging Project

Its instant messaging platform is consolidated and supports multiple blockchains using the 'IM + wallet' model. For users, it is a 'one-stop shop' platform to handle all personal and business matters.

Social Economy Network

The network allows users to enter the digital economy without the risk of security or privacy intrusion.
